DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-2, 4-6, 11-18, 20-22 and 27-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over www.bellagio.com (Bellagio) in view of www.westwardho.com (Westward Ho).

Examiner notes the use of "The WayBack Machine" at www.archive.org in prosecuting this Application. The Internet Archive is a comprehensive library of Internet sites and other cultural artifacts in digital form. The Wayback Machine is a free service allowing people to access and use archived versions of past web pages within the Internet Archive. Visitors to the Wayback Machine can type in a URL, select a date range, and then will be able to search and view the Internet Archive's enormous collection of web sites, dating back to 1996 and comprising over 10 billion web pages. Examiner notes that the www.bellagio.com site used in this rejection was archived on Nov. 29, 2001 and the www.westwardho.com site was archived on May 5, 2001.

Bellagio teaches an Internet reservation site on one screen with three subsection. The first is a calendar section, the second is an inventory information section and the third a reservation information section. Bellagio allows a user to select consecutive dates from the calendar section and then automatically updates the information in the inventory information section (e.g. shows a listing of which type of room is available on the date(s) selected in the calendar section).

Examiner notes that the site allows the user to complete the reservation for the room for the selected dates. Bellagio further allows the user to view a picture of the room in the inventory information section. Bellagio further teaches a visual representation of a calendar in the calendar section, which includes a current month and a subsequent month. Ballgio also teaches a plurality of rooms and an availability of the plurality of rooms. The reservation information section of Bellagio teaches a reservation summary (as required by claim 14). Finally Bellagio teaches a link to information outside the single window.

Bellagio does not teach updating the calendar section upon selection of a room in the inventory information section.

Westward Ho teaches a hotel reservation system with a calendar section and an inventory information section. Upon selection of a particular room in the inventory information section the calendar section is automatically updated with availability information.

It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the reservation system of Bellagio in order to include the ability to update the calendar section when a user selects a particular room in the inventory information section as taught by Westward Ho. One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to combine the references as taught in order to provide a user with as much information as possible when booking a room.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
